Good morning,

NAS should have received a change notice from us. It is possible that the information has not gotten to everyone yet. Our new CO is Andrea Dehne. Please make sure that you include her in future correspondence.

Have a great day

Autumn,

I have not seen an email about who the new CO. William retired at the end of December. The contract level COR is Jorge Rangel and he is cced above. You might want to send him the progress report until we know the new CO.

As for the change of date, I think it is okay. I am not imagining there will be any controversial recommendations from EPA's perspectives so we should be okay from a comms perspective. It also looks like our comms is already working with CDC comms. Thanks for checking, Emily

Importance: High

Hi Emily,

I received a bounce back from William Yates' email account when I sent the attached monthly progress report. Is there someone else I should be sending it to in addition to yourself?

I also wanted to flag that the planned public release date for the report has changed (as noted in the "Anticipated Upcoming Activity Schedule"). While February 14 was previously listed as the tentative release date, our office of news and public information does not generally release reports on Mondays or Fridays, so the new release date has been set for February 10th. The prepublication report will be posted on the National Academies Press website at 11:00am ET on that day and they committee will simultaneously hold a public release webinar (February 10th, 11:00am-12:00pm ET). We just set up the registration page, which can be accessed here: <https://www.eventbrite.com/e/report-release-webinar-committee-on-respiratory-protection-tickets-247381333227>

We are still planning to hold the sponsor briefing on February 8th (2:30-4:30pm ET) and additional details about that will follow.

Please let me know if you have any questions or concerns, and if I should send the progress report to someone else. Otherwise, I hope you have a wonderful holiday weekend!

Best,
Autumn
